Four Are Injured Near Highland

Vassar Hospital Reports All Are in 'Serious' Condition Today

Four people were seriously injured last night about midnight when a car operated by Louis Ruger, 45, of New Paltz collided with the rear of a parked tractor-trailer near the Mid-Hudson diner at Highland.

The most serious was Lillian Near, 7, who suffered a severe laceration of the scalp and internal injuries and was reported in a critical condition at Vassar Hospital. Others injured were Louis Ruger, driver, lacerations and possible fracture of the skull; Lillian Ruger, 42, wife of the operator who also suffered possible internal injuries, and Vivian Ruger, 13, lacerations and possible internal injuries.

None was reported in a critical condition but the condition of all four passengers in the Ruger car was said to be "serious" at the hospital today.

The driver of the tractor-trailer was Bert Cartwright, 51, of Syracuse, N. Y. Corporal Ray Dunn and Trooper John Johnson of the Highland State Police barracks made an investigation. All of the injured were treated at the scene by Dr. Carl Meekins of Highland and taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Meeting Is Called

Fire Chief (Murphy) Requests Volunteers of City Be Present May 17

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy is calling a meeting of all volunteer firemen of Kingston to meet with him Friday evening, May 17, at 8 o'clock at the city hall.

The meeting is being called to discuss plans for making the 11th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association a success. The convention will be held in Kingston on Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27.

It is expected that all of the 10 volunteer fire companies will be represented by large delegations at Friday's meeting.

Child, 22 Months, Was With Brother, 5, at Time; Coroner Gives Verdict

Carol Lynn Hessinger, 22-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Hessinger of Orchard Lane, Woodstock, was drowned while playing along the Tannery Brook in Woodstock village yesterday afternoon.

The little girl with her brother, Robert, age five, left her home on Orchard Lane in the upper end of the village and crossed to the west side of the main street where Tannery Brook flows past some 200 feet from the highway. The first notice of the drowning was given to Walter Van Wagenen, school principal, on whose property the accident took place. Mr. Van Wagenen was painting his house when a small boy passed and remarked that a "little girl was dead down by the creek."

Investigating Boy's Story

Mr. Van Wagenen investigated and found Carol lying on the bank of the creek where the body had been removed with a rake. He immediately summoned help and the Rev. H. I. Todd and Chief Reginald Lapo of the Woodstock fire department secured an inhalator and worked over the girl for about an hour without results. Dr. Hans J. Cohn was called but the little girl was beyond medical assistance.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was summoned and gave as his verdict accidental death by drowning.

Rev. William H. Peckham, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Church of this city, who has a summer home not far from the scene, was notified and aided in securing assistance.

Came from New York

Mr. and Mrs. Hessinger came to Woodstock about a year ago from New York, buying the former Stedman place on Orchard Lane. Mr. Hessinger is employed as a bus driver and was away from home at the time of the accident.

The body was turned over to Victor N. Lasher. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Decision Is Reversed

The decision of Schenectady County Judge James W. Liddle, authorizing eviction of a tenant on the ground that O.P.A. is unconstitutional, is "erroneous" according to a decision handed down yesterday by the Appellate Division, Supreme Court, Third Department. The decision of City Court Judge Chaffield T. Bates who dismissed the eviction action by Carl L. Weubker and his wife, Laura, landlords, against the tenant, Laura S. James, is "correct," the Appellate Division also held.

Ferry to Operate 12 Hours Thursday

Program to Be Completed on Monday at Joint Committee Meeting

The ferry George Clinton began trial trips today in preparation for the resumption of service between Kingston and Rhinecliff on Thursday, May 16.

The inaugural of interim ferry service on Thursday will be marked by a dual celebration at Kingston and Rhinecliff terminals. Publicity Chairman Roy Sut-liff announced today that the crew of the George Clinton will operate the ferry 12 hours on Thursday, the opening day, only in order to afford the residents of these communities an opportunity to enjoy a ride on the day of renewal of communications between these two areas.

The schedule and the program on the opening day will be announced later.

Mr. Sutliff re-emphasized that residents of Kingston and Ulster county are most cordially invited to attend the program in connection with the ferry resumption and to inspect the ferry.

On Monday morning there will be a joint meeting of the committees from Kingston and Rhinecliff to complete the program. Members of the Kingston Committee will meet at the Kingston terminal at 10 o'clock.

Hercules Is Hit by Soft Coal Crisis

Powder Plant Is Only Area Industry Forced to Curtail Working Week

Area Is Fortunate Central Hudson Head Says Section Has Had Good Fortune

No orders for clamping down a brownout in Kingston, owing to the soft coal strike, have been received by the city authorities or the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., and all local industries are working as usual with the exception of the Hercules Powder Co., which has been forced to reduce the usual five-day working week to a work week of from three to four days, a survey of the city developed today.

Superintendent E. P. Rochford of the Hercules plant, when seen today said that the plant had closed Friday at Port Ewen, and instead of the usual five-day week, would go on a schedule of working from three to four days a week until conditions improved.

He pointed out that the company's products are used in the soft coal mines, and with the mines closed the demand for the company's products has been greatly reduced.

Mr. Rochford said that the plant at Port Ewen was amply supplied with coal, and that the concern would return to full time production as soon as the strike situation cleared, and the demand for explosives became normal.

No Orders Are Given

At the mayor's office this morning it was stated that there had been no change in the situation so far as Kingston was concerned, and no orders to place a brownout in effect had been received.

Edwin T. Strong, district manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., also reported no orders for a brownout had been received.

Mr. Strong said that whatever conditions affect this area affect the utilities.

"This area," said Mr. Strong, "has been more fortunate than other areas." He pointed out that the corporation does not use soft coal in its operations, and that gas is manufactured by burning coke.

Some Plants Closed

A majority of the large industrial plants in this area work only a five-day week and are closed Saturdays, and for that reason it was impossible to check with all of them.

At the U. S. Lace Mills it was learned that work had not been interrupted by the soft coal strike, and that the concern had a supply on hand.

Electrol Incorporated, on Grand street, also reported work was proceeding as usual at the plant.

The Forst Packing Co. on Abel street also reported a supply of soft coal on hand, and work as usual.

Some of the shirt factories were also communicated with and reported work proceeding as usual. Many of the industrial plants in Kingston are not available for comment.

Call Is Made to Sheriff

The strange case began to unfold at 10:20 o'clock last night when an unidentified person telephoned the sheriff's office and reported that a Mr. Fraser and his sister were sick at their home in Traver Hollow. The unidentified person told Deputy Sheriff Egbert Maxwell that the Frasers had attempted to contact a doctor but without success.

The sheriff's office rushed Connor's ambulance to the Fraser home but Mr. Fraser was dead when the ambulance arrived. Miss Fraser was taken to the Kingston Hospital for treatment. Other details were not available.

2 Wallkill Prison Escapees Are Captured By Police at Gun Point in Baltimore, Friday

IAN MACPHIE, 26, of Long Island and John Penna, 28, of Brooklyn, who escaped from Wallkill prison along with Charles Bradley Langford, 22, of Schenectady on March 3, were captured at gun point in Baltimore, Md., yesterday. Langford was captured at Schenectady the day following the escape of the trio. He is now serving a 15-year term for robbery at Clinton State Prison at Dannemora.

MacPhie was serving a 20-year term for burglary and Penna a 10-year term for burglary.

Herzog Gets His Hole-in-One at Local Golf Club

Matthew Herzog, Wall street hardware dealer, yesterday became the seventh golfer in Twaalfskill Golf Club's long history to shoot a hole-in-one but the manner in which he did it earned for him a unique niche among Twaalfskill immortals.

Playing in a trio with County Judge John M. Cashin and James Dwyer, Mr. Herzog fired his ace on the 27-yard No. 3 hole.

It was the first hole-in-one ever registered on that hole and Mr. Herzog executed it in spectacular fashion. In a majority of aces, the ball generally hits the green and trickles into the cup. But Mr. Herzog's dream shot was an amazing bit of golf and left the hardware dealer, Judge Cashin and Mr. Dwyer quite flabbergasted.

Mr. Herzog got off a sharp drive down the middle. The ball hit the edge of the green and then on one bounce plunked straight into the cup, even with the pole in it.

Enters 'Hall of Fame'

This amazing shot opened the doors to Twaalfskill's 'Hall of Fame' to Mr. Herzog and he now shares the distinction with Jack McCabe, Lew Hymes, Judge Cashin and others.

Man Is Found Dead At Traver Hollow; Sister in Hospital

Inability to Get Doctor Is Believed Reason for Death; Only Few Details

Philip Fraser of Traver Hollow, town of Woodstock, is dead and his sister, Ida Fraser, is in the Kingston Hospital apparently because the stricken couple could not contact a doctor, it was reported this morning by the sheriff's office.

The hospital authorities describe Miss Fraser's condition as fair.

Only meager details were available at press time but sketchy reports by Sheriff's Smith's office indicated that it may have been a case where the Frasers waited too long before they attempted to call in a doctor. The nature of the illness of both persons could not be established.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly today gave a verdict of death due to a heart attack in the case of Philip Fraser.

Dr. Avatrano who treated Miss Fraser at the Kingston Hospital also was not available for comment.

Conciliator Brings Truce at Electrol

A temporary truce in the wage negotiations between affiliates of the International Association of Machinists and Electrol has been effected due to a visit to Kingston this week of a federal conciliator.

The National Labor Relations Board representative met with Electrol and I.A.M. officials to hear arguments by both sides. He is expected to file recommendations early next week.

An I.A.M. spokesman said there was no change in the situation as of the date of the meeting. The union is asking a 20 per cent wage boost while Electrol's counterproposal is a five per cent increase.

The 30-day "cooling off period" prescribed by law ends June 1. If the conciliator's recommendations are not acceptable the union will then conduct a strike ballot.

New York Survey of Coal Reserves Is Carried On

New Jersey Also Goes Ahead With Plans; Connecticut Order Still Stands

Albany, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—A state-directed study of New York's soft coal reserve went on today, despite suspension of the strike which had cut supply lines.

Consumers will not receive new shipments in less than 10 days after the resumption of mining.

Public Works Superintendent Charles H. Sells said last night. As emergency fuel director, Sells ordered a survey of supplies and expected initial reports today.

Governor Dewey, who named Sells to coordinate the state's power conservation efforts, vested him yesterday, by proclamation, with full authority to direct action by state agencies and to cooperate with federal officials, because of the "grave shortage of coal."

Sells ordered the Commerce Department, Public Service Commission and Public Works Department, respectively, to survey dealers and manufacturers, utilities and military installations, to determine their supplies, how long they will last, and what action can be taken.

The fuel director requested that all utilities, dealers and factories using soft coal report their coal stocks at once to State Commerce or Public Service Department officials to speed the survey.

Plans Are Carried On

Newark, N. J., May 11 (AP)—Plans for a strike by the brownout were still being carried forward and New Jersey was still in a state of emergency today despite the truce in the coal strike.

The State Public Utility Commission, which issued the brownout order Thursday, announced that it would meet on Monday to consider revoking any of its provisions. The order, scheduled to take effect at 12:01 a. m. (E.D.T.), Monday, limits electric and gas use among industrial, commercial and household consumers.

Gov. Walter E. Edge issued a statement at Trenton last night that no action would be taken to continue the strike.

Secretary Byrnes Accepts Russians' Demands on Italy

Conditions Are Added, However, Which Bring Clash With Molotov

Paris, May 11 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes accepted today the Soviet Union's demand for $100,000,000 in reparations from Italy, but added conditions which led to a clash with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

This was reported by an American source.

Almost the entire two-hour informal meeting of the four-power conference was devoted to the reparations issue as the ministers continued their review of disputed points in Italian peace treaty proposals in efforts to narrow down the area of disagreement.

Byrnes, accepting the Russian reparations demand, was reported by the American source to have said these must be obtained only from Italian assets abroad.

Excess industrial equipment in former munitions factories. Merchant shipping. Naval vessels.

Molotov promptly disputed the last point. He said naval vessels were legitimate booty of war and should be apportioned among the victorious powers as such, and not as reparations.

Byrnes retorted that booty could be claimed only by those who had captured it, and the Russians had captured no Italian naval vessels.

The positions of British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault could not be learned immediately.

A new informal session was scheduled for the afternoon, at which the conference was to continue discussion of the question of Italy's pre war bi-lateral treaties. This discussion was begun just before the conference broke up this morning.

Two surprise Russian concessions paved the way for a possible break in the week-long deadlock which had brought the conference to the brink of failure.

The Russian concessions were made by V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, who agreed to withdraw his opposition to:

A United States proposal providing for the establishment of an Inter-Allied Commission to investigate and prosecute war criminals within Italy for a certain limited time after the signing of the Italian peace treaty.

Small Informal Session

Both issues were held open for additional discussion today, at a small, informal session in Molotov's office in Luxembourg Palace. It is the Soviet delegate's turn to preside.

French official quarters said they were encouraged by last night's meeting in which, they said, Molotov took the initiative in an attempt to settle the long-troublesome issue of Italy's African Empire.

James F. Byrnes, U. S. Secretary of State, seconded Molotov's motion on disposition of the Italian colonies, with the proviso that Libya and Eritrea be given their independence after 10 years.

British sources said that Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, argued for the immediate independence of Libya and Eritrea, and then asked that Britain be given trusteeship over Cyrenaica, former Italian colony within Libya.

These sources said that Bevin cited Britain's war-time promise to tribesmen of Cyrenaica that they would never again be placed under Italian rule, and that he told Molotov:

"Tobruk is to us what Stalingrad is to the Russians."

Malotov's concessions were generally interpreted as tantamount to a withdrawal of Russian demands for a dominant role in Tripolitania.

Some observers analyzed Molotov's move as a sign that Russia wished to avoid any stigma of responsibility for wrecking a proposed general peace conference.

Should Be Contingent

Byrnes has insisted that such a conference be held between June 15 and July 15, but Molotov has maintained that such a conference should be contingent on Big

Welfare Fund Is Taken in Principle, but Its Methods of Finance Are Unsettled

Miners Vote 'No' Locals Turn Down Lewis' Proposal, Is Report

Washington, May 11 (AP)—John L. Lewis re-entered the soft coal negotiations today as miners and operators sought to push through a permanent settlement during a two-weeks strike truce.

Lewis, boss of the United Mine Workers, who had attended briefly only one session with the operators this week, arrived early for today's meeting.

Proposed by President Truman to reach an early agreement, federal conciliator Edward McGrady said the conferees agreed to meet daily and vote each afternoon whether to continue into the night. They will decide this afternoon whether to meet tomorrow.

President Truman put both the United Mine Workers and pit owners on notice that he wanted them to work out an agreement in the next four or five days on a new contract.

Government agencies responsible for conserving dwindling fuel supplies meanwhile restudied their numerous strike emergency measures in the light of the truce development, but indications were that most, if not all of them would be continued until the long range coal outlook became more definite.

The operators agreed to the truce proposal somewhat dubiously, emphasizing that differences were far from settled in regard to Lewis' demand for a royally-raised health and welfare fund for his miners. This is the demand that has proved the big stumbling block in contract negotiations to date.

Welfare Fund Goes Over

The White House reported that Lewis and a representative of the operators agreed at a conference with Mr. Truman yesterday on the "principle" of a welfare fund but differed on the manner in which it would be financed and administered. In telling reporters about the agreement, presidential secretary Charles G. Ross also said Mr. Truman expected the operators and Lewis to return to the White House Wednesday whether or not they have written a new contract by that time.

First indication that the government did not intend to relax major emergency regulations came from the Solid Fuels Administration which said distribution of the coal mined in the next two weeks will remain under its control.

The Office of Defense Transportation, which has embargoed all railroad freight shipments but food, fuel and other essentials, said a decision on future rail movement will be made today.

John D. Small, civilian production administrator, expressed the opinion that the government could not afford to revoke orders for brownouts and illuminating gas rationing until "this picture is a lot clearer."

On Capitol Hill, the truce agreement was greeted with a "lot clearer."

Three Men Escape

Tire Blows on Police Car During Jersey Chase; Hit by Bullet

Sparta, N. J., May 11 (AP)—Three men engaged in a running gunfight during a seven-mile long high-speed chase with State Police and escaped here last night when a tire on the police car blew.

Joseph Walter said the tire on the police car apparently had been punctured by a bullet.

The policeman said he and his partner, Harold Kappmeier of the Sussex barracks, were patrolling the highway in Hamburg when they spotted a car, without lights, and containing three men, parked outside Biscoz's tavern.

"The men looked like they might be casing the place so we called to them," Walter said. "They immediately took off in their car."

Inability to Get Doctor Is Believed Reason for Death; Only Few Details

Philip Fraser of Traver Hollow, town of Woodstock, is dead and his sister, Ida Fraser, is in the Kingston Hospital apparently because the stricken couple could not contact a doctor, it was reported this morning by the sheriff's office.

The hospital authorities describe Miss Fraser's condition as fair.

Only meager details were available at press time but sketchy reports by Sheriff Smith's office indicated that it may have been a case where the Frasers waited too long before they attempted to call in a doctor. The nature of the illness of both persons could not be established.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly today gave a verdict of death due to a heart attack in the case of Philip Fraser.

Dr. Avatano who treated Miss Fraser at the Kingston Hospital also was not available for comment.

Conciliator Brings Truce at Electrol

Arguments by Company and Union Officials Are Heard

A temporary truce in the wage negotiations between affiliates of the International Association of Machinists and Electrol has been effected due to a visit to Kingston this week of a federal conciliator.

The National Labor Relations Board representative met with Electrol and I.A.M. officials to hear arguments by both sides. He is expected to file recommendations early next week.

An I.A.M. spokesman said there was no change in the situation as of the date of the meeting. The union is asking a 20 per cent wage boost, while Electrol's counterproposal is a five per cent increase.

The 30-day "cooling off period" prescribed by law ends June 1. If the conciliator's recommendations are not acceptable the union will then conduct a strike ballot.

MacPhie, Penna Taken After Wide Search; Langford Is Caught Day After Break

Ian MacPhie, 26, of Long Island and John Penna, 28, of Brooklyn, who escaped from Wallkill prison along with Charles Bradley Langford, 22, of Schenectady on March 3, were captured at gun point in Baltimore, Md., yesterday. Langford was captured at Schenectady the day following the escape of the trio. He is now serving a 15-year term for robbery at Canton State Prison at Dannemora.

MacPhie was serving a 20-year term for burglary and Penna a 10-year term for burglary.

A wide search for the two prisoners had been made in this area.

Miners Vote 'No'

Locals Turn Down Lewis' Proposal, Is Report

Washington, May 11 (AP)—John L. Lewis re-entered the soft coal negotiations today as miners and operators sought to push through a permanent settlement during a two-weeks strike truce.

Lewis, boss of the United Mine Workers, who had attended briefly only one session with the operators this week, arrived early for today's meeting.

Prodded by President Truman to reach an early agreement, federal conciliator Edward McGrady said the conferees agreed to meet daily and vote each afternoon whether to continue into the night. They will decide this afternoon whether to meet tomorrow.

President Truman put both the United Mine Workers and pit owners on notice that he wanted them to work out an agreement in the next four or five days on a new contract.

Government agencies responsible for conserving dwindling fuel supplies meanwhile restudied their plans for the coming summer.

The positions of British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault could not be learned immediately.

A new informal session was scheduled for the afternoon, at which the conference was to continue discussion of the question of Italy's pre war bi-lateral treaties. This discussion was begun just before the conference broke up this morning.

Two surprise Russian concessions paved the way for a possible break in the week-long deadlock which had brought the conference to the brink of failure.

The Russian concessions were made by V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, who agreed to withdraw his opposition to:

A French proposal allowing Italy to retain, as sole trustee under the United Nations, her pre-Fascist colonies.

A United States proposal providing for the establishment of an Inter-Allied Commission to investigate and prosecute war criminals within Italy for a certain limited time after the signing of the Italian peace treaty.

Small Informal Session

Both issues were held open for additional discussion today, at a small, informal session in Molotov's office in Luxembourg Palace. It is the Soviet delegate's turn to preside.

French official quarters said they were encouraged by last night's meeting in which, they said, Molotov took the initiative in an attempt to settle the long-troublesome issue of Italy's African Empire.

James F. Byrnes, U. S. Secretary of State, seconded Molotov's motion on disposition of the Italian colonies, with the proviso that Libya and Eritrea be given their independence after 10 years.

British sources said that Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, argued for the immediate independence of Libya and Eritrea, and then asked that Britain be given trusteeship over Cyrenaica, former Italian colony within Libya.

These sources said that Bevin cited Britain's war-time promise to tribesmen of Cyrenaica that they would never again be placed under Italian rule, and that he told Molotov:

"Tobruk is to us what Stalin is to the Russians."

Molotov's concessions were generally interpreted as tantamount to a withdrawal of Russian demands for a dominant role in Tripolitania.

Some observers analyzed Molotov's move as a sign that Russia wished to avoid any stigma of responsibility for wrecking a proposed general peace conference.

Should Be Contingent

Byrnes has insisted that such a conference be held between June 15 and July 15, but Molotov has maintained that such a conference should be contingent on Big

Reports on Wheat Hit U. S. Plans for Domestic Curbs

Dry Southwestern Weather Causes Revision of Estimates Over Month Ago

Washington, May 11 (AP)—The latest wheat crop reports delivered a sharp body blow today to any hopes of government food officials for removal of present curbs on domestic consumption of flour and wheat products.

Dry weather in the southwestern plains forced the Agriculture Department to revise its crop estimates downward from the 330,636,000 bushels forecast a month ago to the current prospects of a yield of only 742,887,000 bushels.

The 88,000,000 bushel drop in the crop outlook since last month also meant unwelcome news for famine relief program planners who need all the wheat they can lay their hands on to aid the hungry abroad.

Despite present forecasts, however, improved weather and other conditions still can make possible another billion-bushel wheat crop, but present indications are that the total supply available for the marketing season beginning July 1 may be 300,000,000 bushels short of the amount available during the current season.

Demand for wheat in famine areas abroad are expected, on the other hand, to be at least as large as this season.

Unless the country's wheat crop prospects improve materially between now and harvest, food experts said the United States will have to continue rigid controls on domestic consumption if it is to supply hungry areas with even two-thirds as much as it is now exporting.

Consumption Is Restricted

Domestic consumption is being restricted by orders requiring millers to produce darker flour and to distribute 25 per cent less flour than consumers had been buying.

When these measures were inaugurated, food officials expressed hope that they could be dropped as soon as this year's grain crops are harvested here and abroad.

In issuing its May crop report on winter wheat yesterday, the Agriculture Department made no forecast on spring wheat production, but officials now expect it to be at least 260,000,000 bushels. Thus the combined winter and spring crops would be about 1,002,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,123,143,000 last year and with 789,080,000 for the ten-year (1934-43) average.

This year's production will be augmented by a carryover reserve of about 100,000,000 bushels from previous crops. A year ago the carryover was nearly 300,000,000 bushels.

Despite the fact drought continued to plague some sections of the southwestern plains and that April rainfall was well below average for important crop areas, the department declared that this year's food production prospects continue bright for the country as a whole.

Secretary Byrnes Accepts Russians' Demands on Italy

Four approval of peace treaty drafts.

"We must face it," Byrnes was quoted as saying yesterday. "The issue is whether anyone of us can block holding the peace conference. This practically amounts to the use of the veto, and it would be carrying the veto too far to block the right of the other Allies to be heard at the peace conference."

French sources said that Russia's demands for $100,000,000 in reparations from Italy were made not for the sake of the money, but as a symbol demonstrating that a nation cannot embark on aggression without paying for it. This attitude was taken as opening the way for a compromise settlement whereby Greece would be compensated by receiving the Italian Dodecanese Islands; Yugoslavia by at least portions of the Italian Peninsula and Venezia Giulia; and Albania by various buildings in that country which are technically owned by the Italians.

British Loan Bill's Fate Is Doubtful as Regards House

Washington, May 11 (AP)—Half its battle won, the British loan bill moved over to the House today, facing another hard struggle with its ultimate fate very much in doubt.

Administration forces, however, took much encouragement from the way the measure emerged from the Senate by a victorious 46-34 vote yesterday after a month of bitter debate.

Britain's Prime Minister Attlee was represented as "highly gratified" over the Senate's approval of the $3,750,000,000 credit, and his personal secretary said the Prime Minister will comment later on the favorable action in Parliament.

But the House battle on the credit was still to come, and Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the banking committee, cleared the way for the opening skirmishes by scheduling the start of public hearings before his group on Tuesday. These are expected to take about two weeks.

Treasury Secretary Fred M. Vinson, who contends the loan will be beneficial to America and world commerce as well as to Britain's postwar financial set-up, was called as the first witness.

Opposition lines formed swiftly.

ment failed to bring any slackening in heavy Senate pressure for speedy action on legislation to cope with major labor disputes.

The chamber, by a 66-9 vote yesterday, made the subject its first item of business when it reconvenes Monday.

Byrd Predicts Test

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) predicted to reporters that the first test vote would come on his proposal to outlaw the payment by employers of royalties to any union.

Lewis has asked for creation of a health and welfare fund, and the operators have said the U.M.W. demands a royalty of up to 10 cents on to build up this fund.

Byrd was only one of the pending proposals.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) asked for a congressional study of mine safety and health conditions. Senator Morse (R-Ore.) suggested a "nation-wide hearing on the whole problem of labor relations."

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) said he isn't going to be "lulled into sleep" by the 12-day mine strike.

He wanted legislation passed with "guts" in it.

Lewis' surprise truce offer came dramatically yesterday after the White House announced that President Truman had called the U.M.W. president and Charles O'Neill, chief spokesman for the operators, in for a talk.

When the conference arrived, Lewis already had advanced his truce proposal.

"The operators accepted the deal," he said after receiving government assurance, they said, that the retroactive pay increases demanded by Lewis for the two-week period would be offset by price relief.

They promised to attempt to work out a permanent contract in the next four or five days as the President requested.

The producers declared that today's negotiating session would be important as an indication of how much contract bargaining can be accomplished in a short time.

Lewis has insisted for the past two weeks that the operators must pay approximately $3,000,000 in back holiday overtime pay before he will discuss contract terms.

Solution of this issue would greatly speed the negotiations, which have been stymied on that point since the government asked the parties to resume talks on April 29.

Johnston, Pa., May 11 (AP)—Officials of one of two Cambria county A.F.L.-United Mine Workers union locals, which have spurned a two-week truce in the 40-day soft coal strike, wired U.M.W. Chief John L. Lewis today that they were privileged to "throw in the towel."

The telegram, signed by Michael Demchak, president of St. Michaels Local 3648, and Allen Corley, local secretary, said:

"We have been chasing a will-o'-wisp for the last six weeks? We think not. We have just begun to fight. The miners who are suffering from silicosis have no truce with death. We have nothing to lose except unemployment compensation. Our women and children are willing to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer. We have not succumbed to the hatred aimed at us if you want to throw in the towel, you may—but not for us."

The St. Michaels local and Scalp Level Local 5229, with 1,500 members employed at the nearby Berwind-White Coal Mining Company, last night turned thumbs down on Lewis' call for a two-week truce.

Many other locals in Pennsylvania's big bituminous coal region were to meet today to consider the proposal. The Berwind-White Company joined other operators in reporting it was ready to resume operations beginning Monday.

Thumbs Turned Down

Pittsburgh, May 11 (AP)—The Cambria county United Mine Workers locals, with 1,500 members, have turned thumbs down on a return to work under a two-week truce proposed by U.M.W. Chief John L. Lewis and many other locals throughout Pennsylvania's big bituminous coal region were to meet today to consider the measure.

The miners' traditional "no contract, no work" policy and the Keystone State's latest compensation law were major factors involved in the miners' acceptance or rejection of their leaders' order.

For the most part, operators expressed a willingness to open the pits for two weeks of "truce" operations.

The Western Pennsylvania's Coal Operators' Association announced last night that the district's mines, both commercial and captive (steel company owned) will open Monday. The association added it would meet Lewis' demand that any wage boost negotiated under the new U.M.W. contract would be retroactive for the two-week period.

The two locals announcing rejection of the truce proposal last night were the Scalp Level Local 5229 and St. Michael Local 3648, whose members are employed by the Berwind-White Coal Mining Co. The firm had reported it was ready to resume operations Monday.

Oliver Pauley, president of the Scalp Level Local said:

"Next week we draw unemployment compensation. We have been out this long and there is no reason to return to work now."

Pauley said both locals had declined the telegram to Lewis declaring the miners would not return to the mines until a contract had been signed.

Johnny Burke Is To Top Show Bill At Firemen's Ball

Well-known Comic Will Tell Army Life Story; Big Social Event Here May 23

Johnny Burke, who bounded from the lowly rank of a buck private in World War 1 to stardom on New York's Great White Way, will be one of the celebrities on the entertainment program at the Firemen's Ball in the municipal auditorium, Thursday night, May 23.

This was announced today by Peter Keresman, entertainment chairman for the event, proceeds of which will be used to defray expenses of the 11th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association on July 26 and 27 in Kingston.

Keresman, a 51st Pioneer veteran himself, is a Burke fan, and he isn't alone. The comedian, who is as popular as when he started on the stage after the first armistice, has many followers among war veterans, as well as in the ranks of theatregoers and night club patrons who visit the places where top-notchers are featured.

"I feel very happy over being able to procure Johnny Burke," Keresman reported at a meeting of the firemen last night. "His story of life in the army during World War 1 has had audiences in roars and laughter for years, and is still the tops. Nobody can tell it like Johnny Burke."

Bunce of the refreshment committee reported that the annual firemen's banquet would be held at the state armory on Friday evening, July 26, following the annual business meeting. All of the convention sessions will be held at the state armory.

A partial report on the sale of tickets for the Firemen's Ball on May 23 was also made at the meeting, and Ray Whitbeck of Wicks Engine Co. reported that Royal Mick of the fire company had already sold more than 50 tickets for the ball.

All of the fire companies are expected to make a report on ticket sales at the meeting to be held next Friday evening at the city hall.

John N. Cordts, president of Cordts Hose Co., announced that the fire company was donating $25 toward defraying the expenses of having the auditorium decorated for the ball.

Private Burke who will be one of the stars at the New York Police ball held in Madison Square Garden in New York last January. It was his second appearance at the police ball, and he played a return engagement of the police ball's popular request.

The local firemen are planning to sell at least 2,500 tickets for the Firemen's Ball, the proceeds of which will be used to help defray the expenses of holding the firemen's convention in the city.

All of the committees in charge of the ball reported progress, and all indications are that it will prove one of the outstanding social and financial successes of the season in Kingston.

following the capture of Langford. It was found the three had arranged a rendezvous at Schenectady but Langford was taken so quickly that the other two had been unable to join him. The two taken yesterday were taken to the same manner that Langford was taken at Schenectady. Langford was taken after police were notified by a tip that he was at a certain hotel.

When the three men escaped from Walkill prison between "checks" they went to Walkill where they stole the car of Joseph Morris which was later found abandoned in Albany from where Langford took a taxi to Schenectady. In the car which was stolen was a large sum of money which the trio apparently divided.

Put Up Fight

MacPhee and Penna were taken yesterday in a Baltimore home after a tip had been given police. With guns drawn police entered the place and found MacPhee seated in the living room where he was arrested. Penna was in the bathroom washing his hands and when the officers entered the room he tried to take the gun from the officer's hand as he lunged at the police officers. Penna was felled with a blow from the butt of the officer's gun and as Penna arose he attempted to reach for a .45 calibre army automatic which the officers say he had on his person.

Both men will be returned to New York by prison officials.

Rains said he had notified the fighters' managers to post $1,500 by this coming Monday. The bout was postponed April 22 when Fox became ill during a final physical checkup.

New Mexico Forest Fire Rages Wildly

Silver City, N. W., May 11 (AP)—Fanned by high winds, a forest fire is flaming out of control a fourth day in the wilderness area of Gila National Forest in southwestern New Mexico.

The Forest Service reports 1,500 acres of blackened hills in the wake of the fire in Johnson Canyon near the Arizona-New Mexico border. Five miles away another fire covered 1,000 acres before being brought under control yesterday.

A chartered plane made two trips from Albuquerque yesterday with supplies for fire fighters, one of whose chief problems is isolation in the roadless wilderness area.

Mayor Will Open 40 and 8 Carnival Monday at 7 P.M.

It was announced today by Charles Hummer, chairman of the 40 and 8 committee, that the Penn Premier Shows playing for Ulster County Voiture, will open with appropriate ceremonies Monday night on Pan Am Field, just outside Kingston on Route 9-W in the direction of Saugerties.

"Mayor William F. Edelmuth, a 40 and 8'er himself, will cut the ribbon on the main gate at 7 o'clock," Chairman Hummer told a reporter, and added, "From then on, we hope to do big business all week."

Arrangements have been made to have the 40-piece Port Ewen Five and Drum Corps present for Monday's opening, to enliven the program with spirited music.

Frankie Bland, advance agent for the carnival, praising the 40 and 8 committee today said: "These Legionnaires are a lively lot, and my boss Lloyd D. Serfass is going all out to give them a real show. He has added several new attractions just for the Kingston date next week and there will be plenty of entertainment for all who visit us."

It was announced yesterday that there will be a special matinee Wednesday for children of the Sacred Heart Orphanage at West Park and those of the Industrial Home. Special buses paid for by the 40 and 8 will convey the kids to the show. All of the shows and rides will be free for them through the courtesy of Mr. Serfass.

In order that other children of this area might attend the carnival with all its features the admission and other prices will be cut in half for them next Saturday afternoon.

New Yorkers Sentenced By Martocci on 2 Charges

Jail sentences were imposed today on Charles Fitzmaurice, 43, and Thomas Orr, 38, both of New York city, when they were arraigned before Special City Judge Francis Martocci in police court on charges of petit larceny and public intoxication.

The two men were arrested by Officer Grover Hofferay on the public intoxication charges as they emerged from the Montgomery Ward store on North Front street on Friday afternoon, and the petit larceny charge was placed against the men by Jason C. Roosa, assistant manager of the store.

According to the police both men had in their possession five pruning shears valued at $1.69 each, and a pound can of paste wax valued at 69 cents. The total value of the merchandise was $9.14.

Orr was sentenced to serve 15 days in jail on the petit larceny charge and 15 days on the public intoxication charge, both sentences to be served concurrently, while Fitzmaurice received 10 days each on both charges, the sentences to be served concurrently.

Two Are in Custody

Norwalk, Conn., May 11 (AP)—Unable to provide bonds of $5,000 each, Rudolph Kovacs, 30, and John Kovacs, 21, both of Norwalk, brothers of the late Albert Kovacs who was slain last June by Imogene Stevens at New Canaan, remained in custody here today on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and two motor vehicle counts. At Hartford, State Police Major John C. Kelly, in announcing late last night that the boys had been sent, said that the brothers were charged with "carrying and concealing a revolver" in an automobile.

Sentence Suspended

Richard Banks, 31, of 16 Post street, arrested Friday by the police on a charge of public intoxication, was given a suspended sentence in police court today by Judge Francis Martocci. The judge warned Banks if he appeared in court again, or failed to support his family, that he would be brought in and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail.

New House Drive On Against Teen-Agers in Draft

Washington, May 11 (AP)—A new House drive for a ban on teenage inductions gathered momentum today to threaten a Senate-approved bill continuing the draft law as-is until July 1.

The move threatened to complicate the uncertain draft picture even further, for the War Department has indicated that a substantial portion of the 80,000 youths eligible for induction before July 1 are of high school age, deferred to complete school courses.

Its backers, however, placed reliance on the fact that the House already has gone on record against teenage inductions in any extension of the Selective Service Act.

Rep. Sheridan (D-Pa.), who blocked House action yesterday on the Senate's stop-go resolution for continuing the draft six weeks beyond its present May 15 expiration date, told reporters he will offer the (re-) amendment Monday when the House takes up the temporary measure.

The Pennsylvania, only member of the military committee who opposed the resolution at yesterday's committee session, said he also would seek a ban on all inductions during the six-weeks extension period voted by the Senate.

Rep. Short (R-Mo.), another committee member, suggested the possibility of the House amending the Senate resolution by substituting for it the originally-passed House measure on which the Senate has yet to act. Should that happen, the entire subject would be thrown into a Senate-House conference which administration leaders fear might not be able to work out a compromise in time to save the present law from expiring next Wednesday midnight.

Stamp Club Will Show Rare Stamps At Y May 14 and 15

The Colonial City Stamp Club will hold its fifth annual stamp exhibit in the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday, May 14, and Wednesday, May 15. The exhibit will be open to the public on Tuesday from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m., Wednesday from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. There will be no admission charge.

Done with stamps—pictures made from stamps in the U.S. flag; the Senate House in Kingston; George Washington at Trenton, N. J., on his famous grey charger.

The highlight of the exhibition will be a display of die proofs sent here by the postmaster general, from Washington, D. C., 1847; the Columbian issues up to the present time. Another interesting frame will show the first letter that was delivered by plane to Kingston, when Palmer C. Knickerbocker was mayor.

The public should be sure to see these rare stamps.

Three Groups Weld Campaign for Liberals

Washington, May 11 (AP)—Three national political action groups gathered today to coordinate their campaigns to elect "liberal-minded" candidates in coming elections and thus advance "progressive" legislation.

The unusual political huddle brought together the C.I.O., and National Political Action Committee and the Independent Citizens Committee of the arts, sciences and professions.

Ralph Shikes, public relations director for the N.C.P.A.C., said the three committees, representing thousands of members, would eventually agree on a "general list" of candidates to be fought in primaries and general elections this year.

Thus far, only the C.I.O.-P.A.C. has announced such a list. Its purge roster of 10 Senators and 23 representatives in both parties was made public by state directors of the organization at a union meeting in Atlantic City Thursday.

Most of the 10 Senators thus marked for defeat expressed no surprise.

change his proclamation of a state of emergency unless official notification of the truce were received. He commented that it would require from 10 days to two weeks to replace coal supplies, and that "only good would ensue if dimout and other voluntary measures remained in effect."

Brownout Is Effective

Hartford, Conn., May 11 (AP)—A partial brownout to conserve electricity becomes effective throughout Connecticut on Monday despite the two weeks truce in the coal strike.

The Public Utilities Commission issued the order extinguishing advertising sign lighting and similar illumination yesterday before John L. Lewis sent his miners back to work, but commission officials said last night the action of the mine workers' leader didn't make any difference.

Bishop G. VonWettberg said Connecticut coal piles "will be down to bare ground in three weeks," and Public Utilities Commissioner Eugene S. Loughlin commented that he didn't think "two weeks' mining of coal will help very much."

U. S. Proposal Is Studied Would Defer Application For United Nations Statute

New York, May 11 (AP)—Security Council delegations considered today a United States proposal that would defer action on applications for membership in the United Nations until qualifications and procedures are determined in late summer by a subcommittee.

It was expected to have the staunch support of Great Britain but there were indications it might provoke an open Soviet veto.

U. S. delegate Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., said he is the only member of the current agenda which has not come up for debate.

Stettinius proposed in a resolution circulated among the delegations last night that applications received up to mid-July be examined by an 11-nation subcommittee representing the full Council membership and reported out not later than August 11.

The subcommittee's report would be taken up by the Council in August and the Council then would report to the general assembly meeting here September.

Charter's Provision

The charter provides that member nations may be added to the assembly on recommendations of the Security Council. Other nations reported interested in joining the U.N. include Iceland, Sweden, Switzerland, Siam and Eritrea, but they have not applied formally.

The Council subcommittee, Spain, with a May 31 deadline report, goes into daily sessions beginning Monday to assimilate the mass of material expected in response to inquiries cabled over the world for all information bearing on the Franco regime.

The commission on human rights, headed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, yesterday recommended the formation of a 12-member subcommittee on freedom of information which would be authorized by the economic and social council meeting here May 25.

The Commission unanimously adopted "terms of reference" directing that the subcommittee "examine what rights, obligations and practices should, in the first instance, be included in the concept, freedom of information, and report on any issue that may incidentally arise out of the examination."

Regina G. Dellay Is Bride of Carl Mihm
At Ceremony Before Nuptial Mass Today

Miss Regina Gertrude Dellay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dellay of Rosendale, was united in marriage this morning to Carl Mihm, son of Mrs. Nora B. Mihm, of Clinton. The ceremony was performed before a Nuptial Mass at 10:30 a. m. in St. Peter's church, Rosendale, by the Rev. F. J. Brennan, assistant pastor at the church. The double service was used.

Miss Nan Goldrick was organist. Soloist, Anthony Bonacci sang, "Ave Maria," and "Panis Angelicus." The church was decorated with white and lavender lilies, with wreath and snapdragons, and lighted candles at the altar.

Mr. Dellay escorted his daughter. She wore a white satin gown with long train. The sweetheart necklace was outlined with pearls and the long veil terminated in a point. The bride carried a prayer book with white roses.

Mrs. Romanus Dellay, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Robert Finkle. All wore gowns of blue net with three-quarter length sleeves and heart necklines, fitted bodices and full skirts. They wore half hats of blue net. The matron of honor carried yellow roses and the bridesmaids, pink roses. Sharon Kay Budzeika, niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl wore a peach net gown caught with blue bows, a poke bonnet to match and carried a Colonial bouquet.

The bride's mother wore a beige print dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray print dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Erle Davis acted as best man. Nicholas Lippert and Francis O'Brien were ushers.

The wedding party received about 75 guests at the Evergreen Inn. Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Mihm left for a wedding trip through upper New York state. For traveling the bride wore a Glen check suit with aquamarine accessories and a corsage of white roses. They will make their home in Clinton.

The bride is a graduate of New Paltz High School and Moran Business School. She has been employed as secretary to the general traffic manager at the Adirondack Trailways. Mr. Mihm, a graduate of Clinton Central School, served three years in the navy with the Pacific fleet. He is stock clerk for the Hameline Plumbing Co., Utica.

MRS. JOHN CHARLES KERNS

Florence Wilbern Is Married to John Kerns
At Wedding in Saugerties Friday

The First Congregational Church in Saugerties was the setting for the marriage of Miss Florence Wilbern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Valentine Wilbern of "Meadowside," Saugerties, to John Charles Kerns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Kerns of 817 West 7th street, Davenport, Iowa, Friday afternoon. The wedding took place at 4 o'clock with the Rev. James H. Russell, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Ruth MacMullen, at the organ played a short recital previous to the wedding ceremony as well as the wedding marches. During the recital Mrs. William Plimpy sang, "Possession," and "Oh, Promise me." The church was decorated with callas and Easter lilies backed by Southern Huckleberry. Many candles lighted the altar and windows of the church. The aisle was flanked with lilies.

Mr. Wilbern gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of ivory white satin with long train was designed in medieval style. She wore a family heirloom lace veil cascading over tulle and shaped in a tiara cap held in place by pearl ornaments. She carried white prayer book with white orchids and streamers and Stephanotis.

Miss Emile Gwynn Chambers of Maple Lane Farm, this city, was maid of honor. She wore a teal blue tulle gown with matching medieval headdress of net held in place with yellow roses. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and Euphorbia blue delphinium tied with yellow satin. The bridesmaids, Miss Joan Weber of West Chestnut street, and Miss Helen Cashdollar of Saugerties, wore dusty pink gowns with matching medieval headdresses held in place with yellow carnations and carried yellow carnations and Belladonna delphinium tied with blue tulle.

Mrs. Wilbern, the bride's mother, wore a dove gray gown made with V-neck and bow of dyed French embroidery, small flowered hat, purple accessories and a corsage of purple orchids. Mrs. Kerns, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black gown with small flowered hat, white accessories and a corsage of purple orchids.

Robert Kerns of Davenport, Iowa, was best man for his brother. Ushers were James Abernethy and Edward Schrowang both of Pearl street, this city.

Following the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was held at "Meadowside." The wedding party received in an alcove banked with huckleberry greens, white gladioli and candles. The bride's cake, surrounded by gardenias, was featured in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerns left for Lima, Peru. Mrs. Kerns choosing a gray pin stripe suit with dark blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias and Stephanotis for traveling. They will make their home in Limatambo, suburb of Lima.

Good Taste
TodayBy Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)WELCOMING A NEW DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

The mother of an ex-soldier writes me: "My son is expecting his wife and son soon from England. They are coming to live, at least temporarily, here with me. I would like to give a party to introduce her to all my friends and relations. Please tell me about the type of invitations and their wording, whether the party may be in the evening, what the refreshments shall be and how it would be best to serve them?"

If you can find time, it would be nicest—and easiest to answer eager questions—to telephone best friends that John's wife and baby are coming on such and such a date and will they come in on such an evening at such a time to welcome them. Then send cards "To meet John's wife" to others.

Refreshments would consist of small sandwiches, cakes and coffee and perhaps a fruit punch. These are put on the dining table and guests help themselves.

Unwise to Risk Comparison

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter meant to write you first, but impulsively went ahead with her wedding plans and is afraid now they will be a mistake. She is very devoted to an aunt in her mid-thirties whose age is almost double that of the others taking part. Instead of asking her to be matron of honor, which I think might have been halfway suitable, she already has asked a friend to be maid of honor and the aunt to be bridesmaid. The aunt is the one who is upset and would back out. I think, but she is afraid her niece will think she is too vain to risk comparison with teenagers. She'd like some expression from you—either words of assurance about taking part or proof of her good sense in backing out.

Answer: In my opinion, it is not vanity on her part but plain common sense to know that no matter how lovely and young a woman of thirty-odd may look, walking beside seventeen and wearing duplicate clothes would be unfairly handicapping to the older woman.

Two Rings for a Man

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for a girl to give her fiancé a ring when they become engaged? I don't mean a ring set with stones the way hers is but one of such a design and size that it could be worn attractively later on over his plain wedding band?

Answer: If she makes sure that it is one he himself likes and would want to wear, then certainly! For that matter, if its design is especially chosen to complement or at least compliment the wedding ring, few people would realize there were two rings.

For Mrs. Post's booklet 501, "The Etiquette of Weddings," send 10 cents in coin and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

The World Today

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Whether Winston Churchill's idea of a "United States of Europe," both of the east and of the west" materializes as a goodwill measure of peaceful collaboration, the indications are that the Old World will in any event be divided into two blocs friendly or otherwise.

As I pointed out in yesterday's column, one bloc already has been formed in main, and that is the new Russian zone of influence which blankets most of the countries of eastern Europe and the Balkans. The logical corollary to that will be a western bloc of nations which will combine because of their special community of interests, including a democratic form of government that is at variance with the Soviet totalitarianism.

Approximately of this thought, Mr. Churchill said in his speech at The Hague.

"We hope that the western democracies of Europe will draw together in ever closer amity and ever closer association. This is a matter which should be very carefully considered and, if soundly wise, should be pressed from many angles with the utmost perseverance."

Naturally the fact that there were two groups of nations wouldn't ipso facto mean that they must be at loggerheads. Mr. Churchill's "United States of Europe," both of the east and of the west," under the guidance of a world organization, would be calculated "to unify this continent in a manner never known since the fall of the Roman Empire."

The Cold Reality

That would be ideal. The cold reality is that nobody can say now what the relations among the Old World nations will be in the Europe of tomorrow. We cannot determine that until the realignment of the zones of influence has been finished—or at least until it is clear how great a change is contemplated.

The great unknown quality at the moment is Russia's program. Moscow long ago made it quite clear that the Soviet Union was determined on extending its sphere of influence to the line from Stettin in northern Germany southward along the eastern borders of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria to the Adriatic. The Russians also have emphasized their intention of having access to the Mediterranean. Broadly speaking, after

President to Get
Fordham DegreeTruman Will Address
Centenary Observance
at New York

New York, May 11 (AP)—President Truman comes to New York today to address the opening of Fordham University's charter centenary observance and to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the Catholic institution.

More than 1,000 policemen were assigned to guard the presidential party along its route to the campus from LaGuardia Field at which Mr. Truman was expected to arrive at 1:45 p. m. (E.S.T.).

All radio networks have scheduled his address from 4 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster, England, and youngest member of the Sacred College of Cardinals, also will receive a doctor of laws degree. A guest of New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman, he is making his first public appearance in the United States.

Victory Bell to Ring

The program includes the first ringing of the university's victory bell, which was removed from the Japanese Carrier Junyo, sunk by American bombs off Saipan.

The victory bell, which henceforth will ring out Fordham athletic victories, is the gift of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Accommodations have been made ready for 400 special guests and 10,000 tickets have been issued to the public for admittance to the college campus.

The university will have a dinner tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria in observance of the 100th anniversary of the granting of the charter. Speakers will include the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J., president of the college; Mayor William O'Dwyer, and Cardinals Spellman and Griffin.

President Truman originally was scheduled to attend the dinner but canceled his plans because of the 30-day mourning period for the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

MRS. JOHN CHARLES KERNS

Florence Wilber Is Married to John Kerns

At Wedding in Saugerties Friday

The First Congregational Church in Saugerties was the setting for the marriage of Miss Florence Harding Wilber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Valentine Wilber of "Meadowside," Saugerties, to John Charles Kerns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Kerns of 817 West 7th street, Davenport, Iowa, Friday afternoon. The wedding took place at 4 o'clock with the Rev. James H. Russell, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Ruth MacMullen, at the organ played a short recital previous to the wedding ceremony as well as the wedding marches. During the recital Mrs. William Philley sang, "Possession," and "O Promise me." The church was decorated with callas and Easter lilies backed by Southern Huckleberry. Many candles lighted the altar and windows of the church. The aisle was flanked with lilies. Mr. Wilber gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of ivory white satin with long train was designed in medieval style. She wore a family heirloom lace veil cascading over tulle and shaped in a tiara cap held in place by pearl ornaments. She carried white prayer book with white orchids and streamers and Stephanotis.

Miss Emeline Gwynn Chambers of Maple Lane Farm, this city, was maid of honor. She wore a teal blue faille gown with matching medieval headpiece of net held in place with yellow roses. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and Belladonna blue delphinium tied with yellow satin. The bridesmaids, Miss Joan Weber of West Chestnut street, and Miss Helen Cashdollar of Saugerties, wore

In Ellenville Methodist Church Friday

The wedding of Miss Ruth Isabelle DeVoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. DeVoe of Ellenville, to John Martin Herstad, son of Mrs. Anna Herstad of Superior, Wis., took place Friday at 3 p. m. in the Ellenville Methodist Church. The Rev. John C. Eason, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Frank J. Campbell was organist and in addition to the traditional wedding music played, "I Love You Truly," and "Because." The church was decorated with apple blossoms, lilies and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white satin gown with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, fingertip veil with crown of orange blossoms. She carried white roses.

Miss Evelyn H. DeVoe was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a pink tulle gown with pink net overskirt and carried pink roses with larkspur and white sweet peas. Miss Eva J. Lowe of Newburgh and Miss Jean Gresham of Bridgeport as bridesmaids wore pale blue tulle gowns with blue net overskirts and carried pink

WELCOMING A NEW DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

The mother of an ex-soldier writes me: "My son is expecting his wife and son soon from England. They are coming to live, at least temporarily, here with me. I would like to give a party to introduce her to all my friends and relations. Please tell me about the type of invitations and their wording, whether the party may be in the evening, what the refreshments shall be and how it would be best to serve them?"

If you can find time, it would be nicest—and easiest to answer eager questions—to telephone best friends that John's wife and baby are coming on such and such a date and will they come in on such an evening at such a time to welcome them. Then send cards "To meet John's wife" to others.

Refreshments would consist of small sandwiches, cakes and coffee and perhaps a fruit punch. These are put on the dining table and guests help themselves.

Luncheon to Risk Comparison

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter meant to write you first, but impulsively went ahead with her wedding plans and is afraid now they will be a mistake. She is very devoted to an aunt in her mid-thirties whose age is almost double that of the others taking part. Instead of asking her to be matron of honor which I think might have been halfway suitable, she already has asked a friend to be maid of honor and the aunt to be bridesmaid. The aunt is the one who is upset and would back out, I think, but she is afraid to risk comparison with teenagers. She'd like some expression from you—either words of assurance about taking part or proof of her good sense in backing out.

Two Rings for a Man

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for a girl to give her fiancé a ring when they become engaged? I don't mean a ring set with stones the way hers is but one of such a design and size that it could be worn attractively later on over his plain wedding band.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Whether Winston Churchill's idea of a "United States of Europe," both of the east and of the west, materializes as a goodwill measure of peaceful collaboration, the indications are that the Old World will in any event be divided into two blocs—friendly or otherwise.

The Cold Reality

Naturally the fact that there were two groups of nations wouldn't ipso facto mean that they must be at loggerheads. Mr. Churchill's "United States of Europe," both of the east and of the west, under the guidance of a world organization, would be calculated "to unify this continent in a manner never known since the fall of the Roman Empire."

President to Get Fordham Degree

Truman Will Address Centenary Observance at New York

New York, May 11 (AP)—President Truman comes to New York today to address the opening of Fordham University's charter centenary observance and to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the Catholic institution.

More than 1,000 policemen were assigned to guard the presidential party along its route to the campus from La Guardia Field, at which Mr. Truman was expected to arrive at 1:45 p. m. (E.S.T.).

All radio networks have scheduled his address from 4 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster, England, and youngest member of the Sacred College of Cardinals, also will receive a doctor of laws degree. A guest of New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman, he is making his first public appearance in the United States.

Victory Bell to Ring

The program includes the first ringing of the university's victory bell, which was removed from the Japanese Carrier Junyo, sunk by American bombs off Saipan.

The victory bell, which henceforth will ring out Fordham athletic victories, is the gift of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Accommodations have been made ready for 400 special guests and 10,000 tickets have been issued to the public for admittance to the college campus.

The university will have a dinner tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria in observance of the 100th anniversary of the granting of the charter. Speakers will include the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S. J., president of the college; Mayor William O'Dwyer, and Cardinals Spellman and Griffin.

President Truman originally was scheduled to attend the dinner but canceled his plans because of the 30-day mourning period for the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone.

Employer — I hear you were away yesterday, Snooks.

Snooks — Didn't I, sir? You should have seen me after the finish of the third race.
Death Stalks the Highway
All during the war in hundreds of government warehouses all over America there have been stored thousands of automobile tires.
This storage has not done the tires a bit of good... hundreds, if not thousands, have been rotted out. On the surface, they remain the same as when they left the factory. Sure, outwardly they are "new" tires... but they are OLD.
These tires will find their way to the market. They are due to be released and sold to the American public.
You may be fortunate enough to get a NEW car with NEW tires... but people who will need new tires for old cars will get the rotted or partially rotted tires.
So, while your own car may be safe, you can't depend on the pre-war cars that have new tires. These rotten tires will deteriorate faster than fresh tires. When they get hot, these tires will blow out. It may not be your car... perhaps it will be the car ahead of you or one that is passing you whose fire-cracker tires may cause YOU to have a serious or fatal accident—particularly now because the 35-mile an hour speed limit has been lifted.
If your car is new and your tires are fresh—not government storage—it may be safe for you to drive 45 to 60 miles an hour. But, it is not for you or the other cars that are equipped with one or more government storage "OLD" new tires.
Better think it over.
Fits Anywhere
A peg that's round won't fit, I'm bound.
In any hole that's square.
But if a man that's square is round.
He'll fit anywhere.
Friend—Can you tell me how to wash spinach, so as to get all the sand off it?
Grocer—Sure. Tie it on the end of a fishing pole and hang it under Niagara Falls.

Mrs. John Saxe was hostess to the Little Garden Club of Kingston last Friday afternoon.
Turks Rebuild Ports
Two Turkish engineering firms have been awarded contracts to build port installations on Ereğli and Trabzon, on the Black Sea, Istanbul reports. There is expected to be a heavy demand for dredges and barges both on the Black Sea and on the Aegean, and American machinery salesmen expect to get commitments to supply much of this equipment.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 11 (AP) — Isidore F. Gallegos of Albuquerque sent a check with a shoe order to a Freeport, Me., manufacturer. He got it back with this explanation:
"We are sorry to advise that we have discontinued all business outside the United States for the present."
Waistline Solution
Missoula, Mont., May 11 (AP) — When a Missoula resident stopped a building contractor to tell him nails were spilling from his truck, the contractor phoned police.
Said the police: "Pick 'em up."
The nail train was a mile long.
Bargain Offer
Great Falls, Mont., May 11 (AP) — A rancher brought five live coyotes to the sheriff's office here—in crates—and demanded a bounty of $2 per hide. "There are the hides, complete with coyote," he told Undersheriff E. J. Liptak. "Skin 'em to suit yourself."
Sheriff's officers argued what to do. The coyotes howled. Finally Liptak decided. "Bring back the hides," he told the rancher. "We pay for the hides only."
Lucky Number
Blandinsville, Ill., May 11 (AP) — No. 13 was different for Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Breiner.
The Breiners, parents of 12 daughters, were blessed with a boy, Lloyd Eugene, born at La Harpe Hospital.
Burma Greets New Year
Lunar New Year, most important of the Chinese calendar, was celebrated with much pageantry this year, amid a profusion of peanuts, gongs, drums, cymbals, fire-crackers and street entertainers. In Burma, too, there was great to-do, Mandalay reports. There it marks the advent of the love-making season for the Pagan tribe and superstition forbids the handling of knife or scissors, which is an augury that the user would commit murder. There must be no waste of water, otherwise it will rain too much.

Bark Project Begun

The governments of French Equatorial Africa and French Cameroon have embarked upon an ambitious program of seven or eight years to develop growth of cinchona bark for production of quinine sulfate, according to word in Djang, French Cameroon. A large plantation there, favored by high altitudes and proximity to the sea, has been very successful and between 400 and 600 pounds of quinine sulfate will be processed this year.
It is said that old cookbooks, kept in use from one generation to another, are apt to preserve out of date cooking methods and prevent more modern food practices in the home.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 11, 1946

MOTHER'S DAY APPEAL

In a Mother's Day appeal, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, asks all Americans to pay homage to all that your own mothers stand for by giving to some unknown mother in a famine-stricken land. Mrs. Dickinson is a member of the national committee of the Emergency Food Collection, which will get underway on Sunday.

Raymond H. Rignall is chairman of the local drive.

Pointing out that thousands of mothers in war-scorched lands have died that their children might live, Mrs. Dickinson declares if we would honor the true spirit of motherhood now, we must make it prevail. In mercy and compassion, we must get food to the world's starving human beings.

Sunday, May 12, the one day set aside in the year for mothers should not only be for the living and dead mothers but also for the starving mothers.

FEED THE HUNGRY

The "Food for Children" campaign to be conducted in the Catholic churches of the archdiocese of New York will get underway Mother's Day, Sunday, May 12. Similar drives will be conducted throughout all the dioceses of the United States under the auspices of the War Relief Services.

Cardinal Spellman reemphasizing the importance of the campaign stated "When we see people, as I have seen them, fiercely grasping for a bone or a piece of bread or a bit of food, inedible to us, we realize the urgency of the need. . . . We will make no distinction in our charity; we are not collecting for Catholics—we are collecting for starving, hungry people everywhere to relieve them as soon as we can, with as much as we can.

The goal of the present drive is twenty million cans of food. In the last campaign conducted in Catholic churches 24,600,000 cans of food were collected and have already been shipped overseas for distribution in devastated and hunger-stricken areas of Europe and the Far East.

DECISIVE YEAR

President Truman said early this year that it must be "a year of decision." As the months go by, the truth of his statement grows clearer. He evidently means national decision especially.

But has the foresight of the President and his advisers been duly matched with action? Or have they merely allowed themselves to be pushed ahead without seizing the controls themselves to steer the ship of state?

A leading nonpartisan paper, The Cleveland Plain Dealer, expresses sad disappointment regarding governmental achievements. It says:

"Looking at the record, no one can possibly fail to be disappointed in what the government has done, and still more at what it has failed to do. While it has resisted bitterly all legislative proposals looking toward the prevention of strikes and the assurance of uninterrupted industrial operation, it has failed to offer any workable alternative, and thus has brought upon the nation not only a series of costly strikes, but has been largely responsible for the sense of uncertainty and insecurity which is the worst of all enemies to orderly reconstruction."

As regards the vagaries and personal animosities of John L. Lewis, who has stirred up the biggest and most venomous fight in recent political history, both he and the public seem to have come a long way from coal, where the problem arose. A really decisive government would keep the public mind on the ball, would it not? And make some kind of decision which would get the coal out of the ground, regardless of the egocentric push for power of one man?

WAR BY IMPUDENCE

Soviet Russia has now established by every political diplomatic means her opposition to peace and the processes of peace.

At Paris, Secretary of State Byrnes offered Soviet Russia more than the United States had ever offered to any nation, a political and military alliance, a guarantee of security from invasion to be binding upon us for half a century. When Winston Churchill proposed such an alliance between Great Britain and the United States, the outcry against the breach with tradition, particularly from the Left and the Liberals, was vehement. Yet, we put it on the platter for Joe Stalin and tied Great Britain and France into the bargain.

The Russians have now turned that offer down and have substituted none of their own. Byrnes, desperate as any decent man would be, has now proposed that 21 nations meet on June 25 to write a peace treaty. Russia has turned that down, too. Russia does not desire peace by international consent. Russia seeks a peace only of her own making.

Are no more formulas available? Can you think of one that Russia will accept? You can't. Nobody can. For Soviet Russia will accept no formula and for an excellent reason which every student of international relations should have grasped.

Peace—a formal, binding peace—is not to the advantage of Soviet Russia. Her program is for a global expansion not only by war but by economic, political and dogmatic penetration. Let me cite three examples:

1. Iran is not tremendously important as a country but the Iranian question is crucial in the United Nations. The authority of the charter and of the Security Council may be established or wrecked by the determination in this case. Soviet Russia signed the charter and is bound by it. Soviet Russia is a member of the Security Council.

When Iran and Soviet Russia were to report on the evacuation of Soviet troops from Iran, according to the terms of an agreement signed by Russia, Iran reported that Soviet Russia boycotted the session. What is more, it is becoming clear that while Soviet Russia has removed her troops from Iran, her Fifth Column, international Communism, has produced a native revolutionary army in Azerbaijan.

The principle Soviet Russia seeks to establish in U.N. is that whereas the Security Council may deal with all other countries, Soviet Russia is sacrosanct and may not even be discussed, no matter what the cause.

2. France is an independent country and one of the great powers of the world. In 1940, France was defeated by Germany. Since then, France has been a Fifth Column headed by Thorez and Duclos, French citizens, who are actually in government. This Russian political party rose to power in France during the social and economic disturbances of strikes which so reduced France's power of self-defense that, when Germany and Russia were in actual alliance, France was defeated with surprising rapidity. After the war, in the distress of hunger and disappointment, this Fifth Column put such pressures on General de Gaulle, France's heroic figure, and for that reason unsatisfactory to Soviet Russia, that he was finally driven from public life. Now, under the leadership of Thorez and Duclos, Soviet Russia expects to conquer France by political means in June. It is not impossible.

3. Spain is governed by a paternalistic despotism under Franco. Whereas Soviet Russia has in Eastern Europe and Asia favored the general type of government now existent in Spain, Stalin has always opposed Franco because he is a Roman Catholic rather than a Marxist. Catholicism, according to the Marxist dogma, must be exterminated. For years, Soviet Russia, even while supporting Hitler, opposed Franco.

Now, by diplomatic means via the United Nations, Soviet Russia seeks to conquer Spain. For if Franco is driven out, Russia's Fifth Column in Spain will take over. There is no practical alternative to this.

Here we have three examples of Russia's successful technique for world conquest. In Iran, by occupation and civil war; in France, by political action against a Fifth Column; in Spain, by diplomacy through the United Nations. And it may be that Russia will succeed in all three because the liberty-loving peoples remain confused over the real issue, which is that Russia desires a disturbed world.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS

We have been reading about rhythm as to our moods, that we can expect to feel bright, energetic, courageous for a certain time then gradually lose our brightness, energy and courage until we reach deep depression; then gradually we will come back to feeling bright and energetic again. During our period of good spirits we meet difficulties, lose our appointments with good grace, yet even small difficulties and disappointments loom big when we are in the depressed state.

The explanation given for this rise and fall, this rhythm of our emotions, is that glands, particularly the thyroid gland in the neck, manufacture juices in large quantities during which time we are bright and courageous, then as they gradually manufacture less our spirits fall.

While most of us realize that we face small difficulties badly at times and at other times face large difficulties bravely, these changes in moods are not always due to glands, though glands are a big factor in many cases. We know this because many men and women are "always" depressed yet the glands cannot always be at fault as shown by injection of gland substances during depression of spirits.

Most of us have one or more of the above symptoms at times, but do have times when we are free of them.

The first thought should be a physical examination as an infected tooth or sinus, a slow acting gall bladder, too much fat and starch food may be causing depression. If there is no physical reason for depression then mental and physical rest, the outdoors, light exercise, with just enough work and responsibility to make us feel we are still useful citizens, will often restore our spirits and courage, in from six to eighteen months at most.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder can cause many distressing symptoms. Send ten cents, coin preferred, and a three cent stamp, to The Bell Syndicate, Box 99 Station G, New York 19, N. Y., mentioning The Kingston Daily Freeman, and ask for booklet No. 119, "Liver and Gall Bladder."

brush the only vegetation, the investigators will find flat land with good visibility, freedom from snow, and remoteness ensuring the maximum of secrecy.

The distance from all human habitation sounds particularly intriguing. It seems like the ideal place for people to practice while learning the saxophone.

WHAT IT MEANS

Terminal Leave for Ex-GI

By BOWLAND EVANS, JR.

Washington—Terminal leave for enlisted men may soon become a reality instead of a nice thing to dream about. Terminal leave is leave with pay which almost every officer gets when he's separated from the service.

Officers are entitled to two and a half day's leave for each month they spend in the service. But a few if any officers actually get so, to compensate for this lack of furlough time, the leave which officers have accumulated but not actually used is given them starting the day they go on the inactive list.

G.I.'s Lost Out

Not so with enlisted men. Although they too are entitled to two and a half day's leave each month, there is no provision which says they can accumulate it. In other words, after a year of no-leave duty, the 30 days' leave they have coming to them is wiped off the slate, and they start all over again. If they go through two years with no leave, same thing happens. They can't accumulate it.

Even if a G.I. had gone through four years of active duty, and spent three of them overseas, and had received not one day of leave during all that time, he could not be given any leave after discharge to compensate for it.

Some congressmen and veterans organizations have been trying to do something about this for a long time. It now looks as though they will be successful in getting a bill through Congress giving enlisted men the same kind of terminal leave officers enjoy.

30 Proposals Made

More than 30 bills have been introduced in Congress so far, all of which are pretty much the same. Some of them have been holed up in committees for as much as a year.

If and when terminal leave for enlisted men is authorized, average ex-Joe or Jane will probably get a check for one month pay at the rank he held when he got his G.I. walking papers. Because the Army figures the average ex-Joe or Jane spent 30 days in the service, and enjoys about 30 days leave.

This, of course, will have bearing whatsoever on muster-out pay, which all honorably discharged enlisted personnel get with a few minor exceptions. Muster-out pay amounts to one, two or three hundred dollars, depending upon length of type of service. But others, rate muster-out pay if they are a captain or below at time of separation. At a recent hearing on one of the terminal leave bills a congressman remarked that $300 was hardly enough to pay a veteran with a new wardrobe which he said most veterans need because of their "gross" in stature and in strength during their service.

Not in Bonus Class

But it was brought out at hearings on this pending legislation that terminal leave should not be considered as a bonus, increased muster-out pay, or anything like it. Rather it is a pay vacation pay for vacation which men-in-the service never got a chance to take, but which they definitely had coming to them.

Cost of giving terminal leave to all enlisted personnel is difficult to estimate, because many of the bills differ on the question of whether to include furlough, rations, or subsistence and quarters allowances, in the lump sum payment. But one War Department mathematician figured the total cost would approach three billion dollars in the Army alone.

In spite of the cost, there is no much doubt that former enlisted men will sooner or later get the benefit of terminal leave.

Berlin Fights Rackets
Black markets are thriving in Berlin. One cigarette brings up to $2 in a cafe, a can of sardines, and shoes $240 a pair, according to reports. Courts impose fines but the culprits can make money as much in a day as the fine costs them. It is proposed that racketeers be condemned to "black labor" as in Germany. This means they have to turn out early in the morning for street cleaning, bricklaying or sewer digging, and they wear bold markings showing they are a "Black Market Gang."

To remove lipstick from shoes, try hot sudsy water. If this doesn't work use bleach with hydrogen peroxide or rub with a hard brush, then scrape off grease and wash in hot suds.

Does It Again

Baltimore, May 11 (AP)—Armed has again demonstrated he is just about the best handicap galloper in the racing business today. The husky brown five-year-old from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm proved it again yesterday when he ran away from a field of five others, in the 42nd running of the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico, defeating his closest challenger, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Styxie, by three and a half lengths.

Geologists Make County Tour, Go Over to Dutchess

Group of 115 Is Led by Vassar Professor; First Area Tour Since 1928

Student members and officials of the New York State Geological Association complete their annual two-day field inspection tour today, with extensive surveys in Dutchess county.

The group of 115 geology students at Vassar College and other colleges arrived in Kingston Friday and conducted a tour of Ulster county.

Professor T. M. Hills of Vassar, leader of the survey, said the tour is conducted annually in various parts of the state. The students selected a college for the annual headquarters and operate in that area. Prof. A. S. Warthin, also of Vassar, is with the group as secretary.

The Hudson Valley geological formations are being inspected for the first time since 1928, Prof. Warthin said.

Formations Are Unique
Rock formations in Ulster are unique, he said, and there are some types typical only of Ulster county. The same type of rock can be found elsewhere in the country, but the Ulster county specimens are unique in some classifications.

The annual tours, he went on, provide valuable field training for the geologists. A majority of the students are studying to become oil or mining geologists. Some students make an annual trip to the Rocky Mountain area for an intensive two-week study, while virtually all use week-ends for local study.

While in Ulster, the students inspected waterline and sandstone formations and various other points of interest. These formations still have some economic values, Prof. Warthin said, but the industry has declined due to heavy operating costs.

One of the early stops Friday was at the Hutton brickyards at Kingston Point where so-called Pleistocene clays used in the manufacture of brick were viewed.

Other points of interest were the Esopus Creek shale formations, the shale and sandstone at Mt. Marion and the Rosendale caves.

The limestone deposits at Wilbur shared the interest of the young geologists with Rosendale's waterline formations and the sandstones of Binnewater. In High Falls they inspected quartzites and sandstone.

After completing today's tour in Dutchess county, the Geological Association will inspect the geology museum at Ely Hall, Vassar College, and elect officers for 1947.

The area drained by the Mississippi covers 1,240,000 square miles, or more than one-third the area of the United States.

Azerbaijan Delegation Says Negotiations Break Down

Tehran, May 11 (AP)—Members of the Azerbaijan delegation said today negotiations with the central government had broken down and they would return promptly to Tabriz, capital of the self-proclaimed autonomous state.

A spokesman of the central government's foreign office, said Pishavari was making "exaggerated" demands which Iranian Premier Ahmed Gavam considered contrary to Iranian constitutional law.

The Tabriz radio, criticizing delays in the negotiations during the past several days, sounded a new warlike note Thursday night, when it announced that "we are not ready to give up our freedom, but we are ready to sacrifice our lives to preserve it."

The northwestern Iranian province proclaimed its autonomy last November, at a time when Soviet Russian troops occupied the area.

The negotiations on the central government's proposals to Azerbaijan have been held in the strictest of secrecy.

Pishavari, in a telegram to the Associated Press, indicated he was not in accord with a policy of secrecy.

Bullet Slug Is Studied By Connecticut Policemen

Nichols, Conn., May 11 (AP)—Connecticut State Police cloaked in silence today their investigation of an attempt to assassinate Lorin W. Willis, state's attorney for Fairfield county.

A bullet crashed through a window of the Willis home here Thursday night, narrowly missing the veteran court officer and his wife.

At Hartford, Major John C. Kelly, acting head of the State Police Department in the absence of Washington, D. C., of State Police Commissioner Edward J. Hickey, said the slug had been recovered from a wall in the Willis home, adding that ballistic tests had been made on it.

Kelly declined to comment on what was discussed at a conference between him, Capt. William Schatzman, commander of the Western District of the State Police, and Willis in the latter's Bridgeport office Friday.

"We haven't anything definite yet," he asserted, "but we are checking every angle."

No Arrests Made
State Police Lt. George Remer, commander of the Westport barracks, under whose immediate jurisdiction the case falls, said "we have made no arrests yet, but we are investigating all phases."

The entire case has been shrouded in mystery from the outset. The shooting was not verified until the governor's office at Hartford issued a statement which corroborated information which newsmen had gleaned earlier from other sources.

Willis declined to discuss the central government's cabinet at a special meeting Thursday to accept new proposals of the Azerbaijan delegation, headed by "Premier" Jafar Pishavari.

The nature of these demands was not disclosed. Recently a spokesman for the central government's foreign office, said Pishavari was making "exaggerated" demands which Iranian Premier Ahmed Gavam considered contrary to Iranian constitutional law.

The Tabriz radio, criticizing delays in the negotiations during the past several days, sounded a new warlike note Thursday night, when it announced that "we are not ready to give up our freedom, but we are ready to sacrifice our lives to preserve it."

The negotiations on the central government's proposals to Azerbaijan have been held in the strictest of secrecy.

Pishavari, in a telegram to the Associated Press, indicated he was not in accord with a policy of secrecy.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, May 11—As on previous occasions, the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company is experiencing difficulties in locating new arrivals in Woodstock. During the late spring and summer there are so many new arrivals it becomes difficult to locate them. Mrs. Floyd A. Simmons is anxious that new arrivals let their location be known when arriving.

Clifford Wells recently arrived from California and will remain here a month. He is recovering from an automobile accident which happened before Christmas.

Mrs. Norman T. Boggs is entertaining her grandson, Michael Soler.

It is reported by Earl Snyder of the Woodstock Hotel that one of his guests of last summer, Ethel Sexton, has recently had a book published by Harper Brothers, "Count Me Among the Living."

A son was born at the Kingston Hospital May 3 to Mr. and Mrs. F. Striebel, Jr. This is the Striebel's second son.

Mrs. James Montanye has come to Woodstock to open her house.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Waterous celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary at the home of Allen Waterous on May 4. The celebration was attended by members of the Waterous family and a few close friends. A number of telegrams, flowers and letters of congratulation from friends out of town were received.

A ranch known as Calico Ranch is the latest innovation. It is located five miles from Woodstock in Mink Hollow and will accommodate about 50 or 60 guests during the summer.

Jimmy Taylor Joins Parade of Champs for May 16 Fight Card; City League Enjoys Successful Slate of First Week Games

Good Crowds See Three Contests at Municipal Stadium

Ertels and Capitals Open Second Week of Schedule Monday; First for Latter Aggregation

With the first week of the 1946 City Baseball League written off the books in satisfactory style, the nine-team circuit is enjoying a short layoff during the week-end in preparation for next week's schedule of four games. Action resumes in the loop Monday evening at the municipal stadium when Ertels come up against the Old Capital Motor Club. Game time will be 6:15 o'clock.

A review of this week's slate of games indicates the first post-war City League will have a banner season during 1946. Crowds at all three tussles (one was rained out) were all very satisfying with approximately 250 and 300 fans in the stands each night. Officials of the loop anticipate even heavier throngs when the weather becomes more ideal for the great diamond sport.

Fisher in Limelight

Young Tommy Fisher emerged as the number one hero of the week for his brilliant one-hitter Wednesday night against Perry's Service Station. Fisher worked on the hill for the strong Grunwald club which at this point appears as a real threat for the pennant. Besides limiting Perry's to one single, a single in the sixth frame, Fisher whiffed 15 batsmen, and that, in any league, is pretty nifty hurling.

Three clubs of the nine-team league have yet to appear before City League fans—"Puckers," Davis' New York Centrals, George Zadany's Jones Dairy Makers, and the Grunwald Old Capital Motor Club. All three teams on paper look plenty strong and should have some say as to the final winner of the hunting in August.

Of the clubs seeing action for the first time this week at the up-town ball park, Grunwalds, the Gov. Clinton team and Morgans look to be the strongest. All three have a good array of hitters and pretty fair pitchers. These clubs are currently leading the circuit with a victory apiece.

Manager Jim Freleigh's Gov. Clinton team may have the edge but at this early writing it's difficult to pick any one team for the flag. A team with such veteran ball players as Jimmy Taylor, Mac Tiano, Tommie Malone, Charlie Neff, Earl "Red" Slight, Ed Minasian and Paul Misore must be regarded with awe. The Clintons looked messy afield in the win over Ertels (5-4) but Manager Freleigh has predicted a brushing up on his inner defense before the next tilt.

Ed Murphy's imposing Grunwald Bakers, who slugged out a 12-0 win over Perry's, also must be watched. The Hanleys, Bob and Bill, Jack Dawkins, Charlie Lay, Murphy himself behind the plate, Jack Schatzel also help to make a strong contender in this formidable aggregation.

Morgans Are Contenders

Billy Ball's Morgan Restaurant, winners by 7 to 3 over Jayrich Thursday, is another club with strong possibilities. It is one of the youngest aggregations in the loop and with some good hitting and pitching it could go a long way. Bud Swarthout did all right on the mound Thursday when he handcuffed the Jayrich with five hits. The three runs off Swarthout came in the second. After that he pitched shutout ball for four innings. The infield for Morgans is young and fast with Billy Ball, George Serrano, Tom Hensberry at second, Fred Storm at third and Bill Tierney at short. Ken Hopper, George Brinkman and Jess Shultis form a good outfield patrol also.

Manager George Zadany will trot out his Jones Dairy combine for the first time next Tuesday night by meeting the Gov. Clinton team. Zadany has a formidable club also in Joe Tuller, Al Zadany, Willie Beraton, Chappie Van Derzee, Andy Culich, Elmer Hopper, John Berardi, J. Berardi, Bill Windburn, Charlie Tiano and George Culich.

Other games next week in addition to the Ertel-Old Capital Motors Monday, and the Gov. Clinton and Jones Tuesday, include Perry's Service meeting Morgans Wednesday night and the week's finale Thursday when Jayrich meets New York Centrals. Grunwalds will be idle.

Chez Emiles Now

It was announced today by the Kingston Recreation Department that the Ertel Engineers have become the Chez Emiles for future contests in the City Baseball League.

SCOREBOARD

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Joe Cronin and his Boston Red Sox appeared at last today to have cast off the New York Yankee yoke that has thwarted them of a pennant at least four times in the last decade.

After blowing every pennant-hinging series with the Yankees since 1937, the revengeful Red Sox handed the Bronxites a wallop yesterday that was heard round the baseball world when they whipped the McCarty-Hymen, 5-4, before a weekday record crowd of 64,183 at the Yankee Stadium.

The victory not only stretched Boston's winning streak to 15 games—four short of the American League standard—but extended the American League leaders' margin over the Yankees to five and a half games.

The Red Sox are not yet entirely free of the Yankee jinx but they are a lot closer.

After second place finishes in both 1938 and '39, the Sox began the 1940 campaign in almost the same manner as this year. They captured 16 of their first 21 games and on May 11—exactly six years ago today—encountered the Yankees. Again the Joe McCarthy-led sluggers defeated the Sox, handing the Hose a 6-1 trouncing to end their six game winning streak and start them on the skids which dropped them from first to fourth place.

Boston rose again to second in '41 and made another determined bid for the flag in '42. A spectacular mid-season spurt during which they capped 20 out of 24 decisions brought the Red Sox within hailing distance of the Yankees. A sweep of the four-game series meant first place. But the story was the same. The Yankees tripped them 3-5 on July 3 and again 6-3 the following day to end the threat.

The Sox bounced back late in the season to win 14 of 16 games during a two-week streak. Naturally the defeat which prevented a club consecutive record was handed to them by the Yankees. Once again the Red Sox wound up the season as runner-up to their nemesis.

Ironically enough Cronin yesterday entrusted curve-baller Joe Dolson, the same hurler whose 1942 defeat by the Yanks prevented Boston from winning 15 straight games, to keep the Red Sox victory skein alive. He was opposed by veteran Red Ertel, who mipped their string in '37.

This time the tables were reversed although neither hurler was around at the finish. Ruffing was tagged for three runs in the second inning on four successive singles after two were out, the most damaging of which was George Metkovic's double.

A home run by Joe DiMaggio with the bases loaded in the fifth frame put the Yankees ahead 4-3 and sent Dolson to the showers, but the Sox bounced back in the seventh with two runs to win when Rudy York drove in Bobby Doerr with a triple to left-center and talked on a single by DiMaggio.

Macchio, younger brother of Joe Earl Johnson, who relieved Dolson in the fifth and pitched one hit ball the rest of the way, was the winning pitcher. Joe Ertel, Ruffing's successor, was the loser.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Rudy York, Red Sox—tripled in tying run in the seventh inning and scored winning run on Dom DiMaggio's single to give the Red Sox a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

Joe Ertel, Dodgers—relieved Art Herring in the ninth with the bases full, fanned Johnny Hopp and forced Tommy Holmes to pop up to end the game and give the Dodgers a 4-2 victory over the Braves.

Wage Bases Studied

New Zealand's House of Representatives is considering a Minimum Wage Bill fixing rates of pay for all workers over 21. Wellington reports. Proposals are approximately: On an hourly basis, 58 cents for men and 36 cents for women; on a daily basis, $4.40 for men and $2.68 for women; on a weekly basis, $21 for men and $12.60 for women.

Games, Brooklyn shaded the Boston Braves 4-2 in an arc-light contest to move up within a half game of the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals, and the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators tied a 13-inning 3-3 tie in another arc-dark fray. All other teams were either rained out or were not scheduled.

The Dodgers overcame a 2-1 deficit with a three-run rally in the eighth to hand Mort Cooper his second loss and send home happy an Ebbets' field season-record crowd of 32,288 paid admissions.

It took the A's and Nats four hours to wind up with the draw, the game ending by Pennsylvania's curfew law. The Senators tied the game in the ninth and went ahead in the 13th only to have the A's know it up again and force it into 15 innings, the longest game of the season.

Two No-Hitters In One Contest; Team Wins, 5 to 0

Tony Gobeo, Middletown, Hurls Perfect Tilt; Maybrook Moundsman Victim of Errors

A no-hitter in baseball is something to write about but when one single game features two no-hitters, then it's time to call in Mr. Ripley. Believe it or not, two no-hitters were pitched in one ball game earlier this week in Maybrook and despite his great pitching feat, Hennie Tulip of Maybrook suffered a 5 to 0 defeat.

This amazing ball game took place in Maybrook when Tony Gobeo, former all-DUSO great of Middletown hooked in a spectacular duel with Tulip of Maybrook. Both hurlers hurled hitless ball in a seven inning contest.

Middletown, without the aid of a hit, scored all its runs off Tulip in the first inning on five errors, a walk and one hit batsman. After that fatal frame Tulip went on to pitch an excellent ball game and managed to whiff six Middle batters.

Gobeo, meanwhile, was receiving great support from his infield and outfield, and came through his stint with a perfect game. In the seven frames a total of 21 batters faced the slants of the big right-hander who struck out 11 Maybrook batters.

Derby Winner Is Favored to Repeat Today in Preakness

By SID FEDER

Baltimore, May 11 (AP)—It was Assault against the field at Pimlico in the Preakness today, and the betting was just about even that Assault would follow his victory of a week ago in the Kentucky Derby.

There were 10 other three-year-olds going to the post with the Texas terror at 4:55 p. m. (E.S.T.) to run for the black-eyed Susans over the old Hilltop track with more than $100,000 to the winner.

And of the entire 11, Assault was the high-powered choice to take the same double trick his daddy, Bold Venture, did just 30 days ago—both the Derby and Preakness.

About the only argument at all for the big end of the pot, made it Assault against Eddie Arcaro. Heady Eddie is riding Hampden, the horse who wound up third in the Derby, and while Assault defeated the Delaware dandy in the only two times they've tangled this spring, no one denies Hampden will benefit from the jockey switch. Last week, Hampden was piloted by Joe DeJesse.

In the Derby, Eddie was aboard Lord Boswell, one of the aces—back-to-back from the Maine Ancestry barn of Mrs. Elizabeth Graham. The other was the Maryland-bred giant, Knockdown, and Lord B and Knockdown finished fourth and fifth behind the Texas Stepper from Robert Kieberg, Jr.'s King Ranch. Both are given a slight look-in this time, although hardly more than a quick peek.

Events of the week scheduled at Y.M.C.A.:

Pabst Pin Spillers Will Try For A. B. C. Laurels Tonight

Buffalo, N. Y., May 11 (AP)—One "Dark Horse"—the Chicago Pabst Blue Ribbon Five—was scheduled to try for honors tonight at the American Bowling Congress world championship tournament. The team, which has a home average of 900, is rated the best of a squad of 80 listed to roll at that time. A decade ago the Pabst Five was one of the best teams in the nation, but it has fallen off somewhat in recent years and only a reversion to its old form would give its members a chance to shake up the first-ten standings.

Bowling at the tournament yesterday failed to effect standings change. The leaders:

Giants Join Fight To Keep Players Out of Mex Loop

New York, May 11 (AP)—The New York Giants joined the Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers in their legal battle against the Mexican Baseball League today.

President Horace Stoneham announced last night that the Giants were taking court action against the Pasquels and their agents "to enjoin them from inducing New York Giants players to jump to the Mexican League."

Stoneham's brief announcement said Bernardo Pasquel, vice president of the Mexican League, had been notified personally of the action by Edgar P. Feeley, Giants attorney and treasurer.

Meanwhile, the Montreal Gazette said Stan Bread, star shortstop of the Montreal Royals in the International League, had "signed a contract with the Mexican League" at a reported salary of $8,000 a year, plus a bonus.

Locals Meet Liberty Here Next Week

The Kingston High School golf squad will officially open its 1946 season next Saturday afternoon at the Wiltwyck course by meeting Liberty. Originally, the Maroon and White team was to have opened against Poughkeepsie Friday afternoon at the local greens.

The complete schedule follows: May 18—Liberty—Home. May 24—Poughkeepsie—Away. June 1—Liberty—Away. June 15—Sections—Central Valley.

Frank Stranahan Out in Front of Nelson and Hogan

Houston, Tex., May 11 (AP)—Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan, the ex-Texans picked to battle it out for the first money in Houston's $10,000 golf tournament of charity, were doing just the thing today out not by leading the field.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., who of course, can't take any of the cash awards, held that honor going into the third round. Stranahan shot a three-under-par 68 yesterday to surge two strokes in front with his 137 for 36 holes. Nelson picked up with a 69 and Hogan slipped to a 72—thus they were tied for second place with 139.

Nelson could even smile benevolently on Stranahan. Frank is his protegee.

Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, who had shot into a tie for the first round lead with Hogan, faltered with a 73 yesterday and fell down to a tie for fourth place at 140 with Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans.

Stranahan said his round was the "best I ever shot in my life." He didn't miss a green except the ninth as he ripped par 35-36-71 on the 6,538-yard River Oaks course, bagging four birdies.

Harry Todd, E. J. Harrison, Herman Keiser, Sam Schneider, and Jimmie Demaret each had 142.

Big Dam Projected

United States contractors probably will build Mexico's latest big irrigation project, at Hermosillo, State of Sonora, Mexico, C. S. reports. It involves a large earthen dam, to be completed by June, 1948, and a system to bring 120,000 acres under irrigation below the dam. It will be a joint enterprise of the State and National Governments, each supplying half of the funds.

COOLER

Does It Again

Baltimore, May 11 (AP)—Armed has again demonstrated he is just about the best handicap galloper in the racing business today. The husky brown five-year-old from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm proved it again yesterday when he ran away from a field of five others, in the 42nd running of the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico, defeating his closest challenger, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Styxie, by three and a half lengths.

Geologists Make County Tour, Go Over to Dutchess

Group of 115 Is Led by Vassar Professor; First Area Tour Since 1928

Student members and officials of the New York State Geological Association complete their annual two-day field inspection tour today, with extensive surveys in Dutchess county.

The group of 115 geology students at Vassar College and other colleges arrived in Kingston Friday and conducted a tour of Ulster county.

Professor T. M. Hills of Vassar, leader of the survey, said the tour is conducted annually in various parts of the state. The students selected a college for the annual headquarters and operate in that area. Prof. A. S. Warthin, also of Vassar, is with the group as secretary.

The Hudson Valley geological formations are being inspected for the first time since 1928, Prof. Warthin said.

Formations Are Unique
Rock formations in Ulster are unique, he said, and there are some types typical only of Ulster county. The same type of rock can be found elsewhere in the country, but the Ulster county specimens are unique in some classifications.

The annual tours, he went on, provide valuable field training for the geological students. A majority of the students are studying to become oil or mining geologists. Some students make an annual trip to the Rocky Mountain area for an intensive two-week study, while virtually all use week-ends for local study.

While in Ulster, the students inspected waterline and sandstone formations and various other points of interest. These formations still have some economic values, Prof. Warthin said, but the industry has declined due to heavy operating costs.

One of the early stops Friday was at the Hutton brickyard at Kingston Point where so-called Pleistocene clays used in the manufacture of brick were viewed.

Other points of interest were the Escopus Creek shale formations, the shale and sandstone at Mt. Marion and the Rosendale caves.

The limestone deposits at W. Warbur shared the interest of the young geologists with Rosendale's waterline formations and the sandstones of Binnewater. In High Falls they inspected quartzites and sandstone.

After completing today's tour in Dutchess county, the Geological Association will inspect the geology museum at Ely Hall, Vassar College, and elect officers for 1947.

Azerbaijan Delegation Says Negotiations Break Down

Tehran, May 11 (AP)—Members of the Azerbaijan delegation said today negotiations with the central government had broken down and they would return promptly to Tabriz, capital of the self-proclaimed autonomous state.

A spokesman of the central government's foreign office said that the negotiations were deadlocked, but said "an announcement of the friendly termination of the conferences is expected."

A foreign source here, who is an expert on Middle East affairs, said that if the negotiations had broken down it would be "very serious." He said failure to settle the Azerbaijan problem might pose a "threat of civil war."

At the walled village, five miles out of Tehran, where the delegations have held their long series of conferences, a guard said: "It is over. We are leaving."

No Official Word
In diplomatic quarters there was no official word on the termination of the negotiations, but it was said the conference had been stalled for several days.

An Azerbaijan cabinet minister said the break followed refusal of the central government's cabinet at a special meeting Thursday to accept new proposals of the Azerbaijan delegation, headed by "Premier" Jafar Pishevari.

The nature of these demands was not disclosed. Recently a spokesman for the central government's foreign office said Pishevari was making "exaggerated" demands which Iranian Premier Ahmed Gavam considered contrary to Iranian constitutional law.

The Tabriz radio, criticizing delays in the negotiations during the past several days, sounded a new warlike note Thursday night, when it announced that "we are not ready to give up our freedom, but we are ready to sacrifice our lives to preserve it."

The northwestern Iranian province proclaimed its autonomy last November, at a time when Soviet Russian troops occupied the area.

The negotiations on the central government's proposals to Azerbaijan have been held in the strictest of secrecy.

Pishevari, in a telegram to the Associated Press, indicated he was not in accord with a policy of secrecy.

Bullet Slug Is Studied By Connecticut Policemen

Nichols, Conn., May 11 (AP)—Connecticut State Police cloaked in silence today their investigation of an attempt to assassinate Lorin W. Willis, state's attorney for Fairfield county.

A bullet crashed through a window of the Willis home here Thursday night, narrowly missing the veteran court officer and his wife.

At Hartford, Major John C. Kelly, acting head of the State Police Department in the absence of Commissioner Edward J. Hickey, said the slug had been recovered from a wall in the Willis home, adding that ballistic tests had been made on it.

Kelly declined to comment on what was discussed at a conference between him, Capt. William Schatzman, commander of the Western District of the State Police, and Willis in the latter's Bridgeport office Friday.

"We haven't anything definite yet," he asserted, "but we are checking every angle."

No Arrests Made
State Police Lt. George Remer, commander of the Western District, under whose immediate jurisdiction the case falls, said "we have made no arrests yet, but we are investigating all phases."

The entire case has been shrouded in mystery from the outset. The shooting was not verified until the governor's office at Hartford issued a statement which corroborated information which newsmen had gleaned earlier from other sources.

Willis declined to discuss the case with newsmen. His only comment was: "Obviously, I have nothing to say."

Willis, 53, has represented the state in many table cases. His most recent was the admitted shooting of Albert Kovacs of Norwalk, a sailor, by Mrs. Imogene Stevens at New Canaan last June.

The case against Mrs. Stevens subsequently was dismissed and, despite pleas of the sailor's mother, state authorities have refused to reopen it.

O.P.A. Denies Stores May Accept Loose Stamps

Lester W. Herzog, district director, Office of Price Administration, emphatically denied today a report that local O.P.A. Price Control Boards were advising stores to accept loose sugar stamps.

He called attention to the newspaper releases of March 27 and April 2 in which it was stated that stores were not permitted to accept loose stamps.

A check of the boards did not reveal any who had given out such instructions to stores. He stated, as a matter of fact, the boards would have no authority to give such permission nor would any one else as it is a basic regulation that stamps must be taken from the ration book in the presence of the person who is selling or transferring the food.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, May 11—As on previous occasions, the local office of the Western Union Telegraph Company is experiencing difficulties in locating new arrivals in Woodstock. During the late spring and summer there are so many new arrivals it becomes difficult to locate them. Mrs. Floyd A. Simmons is anxious that new arrivals let their location be known when arriving.

Clifford Wells recently arrived from California and will remain here a month. He is recovering from an automobile accident which happened before Christmas.

Mrs. Norman T. Boggs is entertaining her grandson, Michael Soler.

It is reported by Earl Snyder of the Woodstock Hotel that one of his guests of last summer, Ethel Sexton, has recently had a book published by Harper Brothers, "Count Me Among the Living."

A son was born at the Kingston Hospital May 3 to Mr. and Mrs. F. Striebel, Jr. This is the Striebel's second son.

Mrs. James Montanye has come to Woodstock to open her house.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Waterous celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary at the home of Allen Waterous on May 4. The celebration was attended by members of the Waterous family and a few close friends. A number of telegrams, flowers and letters of congratulation from friends out of town were received.

A ranch known as Calico Ranch is the latest innovation. It is located five miles from Woodstock in Mink Hollow and will accommodate about 50 or 60 guests during the summer.

Injured in Fall

Mrs. Christian Nitzger of Saugerties suffered a bad cut over the eye when she fell while crossing the street at North Front and Wall streets at 7:15 o'clock Friday evening, according to a police report. She was treated by a physician.

I WANT A FURNACE
that won't hurt my house

Yes, Madam, you want the...
LENNOX Riveted Steel
It will never leak dust. It can never leak gas. Its seams are RIVETED STEEL... permanently tight... permanently leak-proof. It saves dusting. It saves your furniture as well. Because it also moistens the air... provides plenty of humidity. Woodwork will not dry out and warp.

And your house is EVENLY heated all over by CIRCULATED air. Quickly warmed in the mornings, too. The steel plates of the Lennox Furnace heat faster... stay clean longer... extract more heat from the burning fuel. Investigate.
